Introduction

The aim of this document is to give Learners who have previously completed the Institute of Consulting (IC) Diploma in Management Consulting the opportunity to achieve the new QCF qualifications, via a top up programme.

CMI have conducted a mapping exercise of the IC Diploma in Management Consulting qualification against the new QCF qualifications. From that mapping exercise, CMI have created individual Assignments Briefs, for each of the QCF units. Each assignment brief will set out tasks that the Learner is required to complete, in order to achieve the new and amended QCF assessment criteria.

These assignments can be marked within the CMI Approved Centre, or sent to CMI for external verification, at a charge of £30 per unit per learner.

The Learner registration fee the QCF qualification will be as per CMI published Fee List.

External Assessment

As part of our dedicated service, Chartered Management Institute (CMI) Awarding Body offers the opportunity for all centres to have their Learner's assignments Externally Assessed.

Some CMI Approved Centres choose to send one assignment of the qualification to be externally assessed, as it gives the learner a CMI quality stamp, as it marked and assessed by the Awarding Body.

This service provides Centres with a simplistic, professional and cost effective way to get their CMI Learner's work assessed and certificated within a six week period and all for the excellent price of just £30 per assignment (excluding VAT).

Accessibility of CMI qualifications

There may be incidents where Learners may require special consideration and reasonable adjustments to the delivery and assessment of qualifications. In the event of this, Centres should notify their allocated Quality Manager and CMI.

Unit 7024 (Top Up) - Professional practice

Introduction

This unit is about the professional and ethical standards to which a management consultant should work.

Scenario

Learners may use their own employment context, or that of another organisation with which they are very familiar, to base their assignment. However, in the case that they are not able to do so, please use the below scenario: -

You are employed as a management consultant and as part of your role you have been asked to review the performance and behaviour of the consultants within the organisation. The aim is to improve the professional and ethical standards currently inherent within the company and examine how the organisational culture and values may impact of the behaviour of consultants. The task will involve reviewing the importance of codes of conduct, examining any possible dilemmas consultants may face and expected behaviour to ensure high professional standards.

Task 1:

The organisational culture can affect the behavioural norms of consultants in terms of ethical conduct and professionalism. Critically evaluate how the organisational culture and values may promote a high standard of ethical conduct from its consultants and the impact this could have.

Guideline word count: 500 - 600 words

A.C. 3.3 Critically evaluate the role of an organisation's cultural values in promoting a high standard of ethical conduct from its consultants

Word count is a Max of 1900 range 1400 – 1900 words

Unit 7025 (Top Up) - Professional development in consulting

Introduction

This unit is about the professional and ethical standards to which a management consultant should work.

Scenario

Learners may use their own employment context, or that of another organisation with which they are very familiar, to base their assignment. However, in the case that they are not able to do so, please use the below scenario: -

You are employed in a medium sized organisation as a management consultant. In order for your organisation to develop its competitive advantage you have been asked to review current practice within the organisation to include the skills and behaviours of staff. Part of your review is to examine the link between the core competences of staff and the achievement of organisational objectives. You will need to create action and development plans that can be implemented and measured for effectiveness against organisational objectives. An understanding of possible benefits will need to be identified and the importance of continual improvement explored and critically evaluated.

Task 1:

The strategic direction of organisations employing consultants are subject to changes to reflect market demands in the macro environment. Explain how emerging trends and challenges impact upon the strategic direction of the consultants own organisation.

Guideline word count: 500 - 800 words

A.C. 2.2 - Evaluate a range of approaches and styles that can be used by consultants in different interventions

Word count is a Max of 1100 range 850 – 1100 words

Unit 7031 (Top Up) - Tools and techniques for effective consulting

Introduction

This unit tests your awareness of, and ability to apply, a range of standard tools and techniques that can be used in consultancy work. It covers the intervention process from the establishment of client needs through the development of appropriate research strategies to understanding and selecting the tools and techniques which will be most beneficial to the situation.

Scenario

Learners may use their own employment context, or that of another organisation with which they are very familiar, to base their assignment. However, in the case that they are not able to do so, please use the below scenario: -

- a). Imagine that you are considering setting up in business as an independent consultant.
- b). Imagine that you have been asked to act as an internal consultant within your own large organisation.

Use whichever scenario is most applicable to you to explore and respond to the tasks set out below. Please state which scenario has been used.

Task 1:

Describe at least three different tools and techniques a consultant can use to define a client's needs and evaluate the pros and cons of each in a range of circumstances. Illustrate your answers with real life examples where possible.

Guideline word count: 300 - 450 words

A.C. 1.2 - Evaluate a range of tools and techniques a consultant may use in defining the client needs

Task 2:

Explain the contribution that creative thinking techniques can make when analysing data and knowledge in consultancy work.

Guideline word count: 150 - 200 words

A.C. 2.5 - Discuss the role of creative thinking in the analysis of data and knowledge

Task 3:

Discuss two or more approaches you could use to achieve an aim of ensuring that experiences and knowledge gathered during consultancy interventions are captured and retained for the benefit of future operations within your practice. Identify some of the difficulties and challenges this legacy building presents and what processes you might put in place to overcome these. Use practical examples where applicable.

Guideline word count: 400 - 450 words

A.C. 3.4 - Evaluate ways of leveraging operating experience and knowledge for the future benefit of the practice

Word count is a Max of 3500 range 3000 – 3500 words

Unit 7032 - Managing the business of consulting

Introduction

This unit is about the core activities involved in managing consultancy teams and practices. It incorporates effective promotion of the consultancy business, managing resources within the practice or department, and effective management of the team.

Scenario

Learners may use their own employment context, or that of another organisation with which they are very familiar, to base their assignment. However, in the case that they are not able to do so, please use the below scenario: -

- a. Imagine that you are the manager of an independent consulting business.
- b. Imagine that you are the manager of an internal consultancy department within a large organisation.

Use whichever scenario is most applicable to you to explore and respond to the tasks set out below. Please state which scenario has been used.

Task 1:

Discuss how you would develop, and set out clearly, customer focused value propositions either in response to client enquiries about your services, or proactively when seeking to attract clients. The inclusion of a framework example would be beneficial. Analyse the range of channels available to promote the consulting organisation, discussing the benefits and limitations of each, and identifying situations when it would be appropriate to deploy each of these, or when use of a combination of channels might be advantageous. You may find it helpful to produce this evaluation in a table format. Identify and discuss the factors that influence client buying decisions.

Guideline word count: 1,100 - 1,250 words

A.C. 1.1 - Develop clear, customer focused value propositions

A.C. 1.2 - Evaluate a range of channels for promoting the consultancy organisation

A.C. 1.3 - Discuss a range of factors that influence client buying decisions

Task 2:

Identify the various resources and costs that might be needed to meet the objectives of a consultancy project. Describe the factors you need to take into account when pricing consultancy intervention, explaining the relevance of each factor. Discuss how you would develop suitable controls to ensure the project and resources were managed effectively, and provide examples of what these controls might be.

Where possible use a practical example from consultancy projects in which you have been involved.

Guideline word count: 650 - 750 words

A.C. 2.1 - Explain the factors to consider when pricing interventions

A.C. 2.2 - Identify the resources and costs needed to meet set objectives

A.C. 2.3 - Develop appropriate controls to ensure effective management of resources

Task 3:

Describe different models of team structure that could be appropriate in a consultancy organisation or department, and how you would set about establishing the most suitable model for your own organisation, using a practical example or one of the above scenarios. Discuss how to balance the deployment of the human resources at your disposal in the most effective manner to ensure achievement of both organisational and consultancy project objectives, stating what challenges this might present.

Guideline word count: 400 - 500 words

A.C. 3.1 - Develop appropriate team structures to support the achievement of objectives

A.C. 3.2 - Deploy human resources effectively to meet set objectives

Task 4:

Describe the various tools and techniques available to build effective teams. Analyse how these tools and techniques might be deployed in a consultancy organisation, explaining some of the issues that may have to be overcome, and how implementation may differ from similar deployment in a more mainstream organisation. Identify how your approach might need to be adapted for the audience. Discuss the challenges of leading teams of remote workers (e.g. based from home, or self employed), and those from the client team who are working as part of a 'virtual' consultancy project team.

Guideline word count: 850 - 1,000 words

A.C. 3.3 - Evaluate tools and techniques used to build effective teams

A.C. 3.4 - Discuss the challenges of leading teams which may be remote or contain client employees
