

The Role

Lead Tech Analyst / Product Owner

- Competitive Salary with fantastic benefits
- Full time, 35 hours per week
- Corby-based

CMI is in the grip of a technology-led revolution. We're looking to expand our team of intrepid technologists and deliver the future, faster. Could you be part of the team that powers our DeLorean to 88mph..?

As Lead Tech Analyst & Product Owner you'll manage a small team of Analysts / Product Owners working alongside tech & business colleagues, playing a crucial role in the delivery of tech solutions and driving CMI towards it's strategic objectives.

We're looking for an experienced line manager with a hands on problem solving & project ownership background. Comfortable with agile/waterfall/whatever works. Requirements gathering & process mapping. Workshop facilitation & leading standups. Most importantly, determination and an open mind!

CMI is undergoing an exciting technology evolution and are seeking a Tech Analyst & Product Owner to lead delivery workstreams as we transform our organisation.

You will be responsible for the full delivery lifecycle of multiple technology projects covering key areas such as Business Process Change, Data & Infrastructure, Technology & Digital. You will also work closely with our Tech leadership team and other key stakeholders throughout the business to drive the projects forward to delivery.

Key Relationships;

- Tech Delivery Team Members
- Business Colleagues
- Tech Manager
- Head of Technology

About you;

We are looking for our new Lead Tech Analyst & Product Owner to have a proven line-management/analysis/project background and ideally experience in technology together with a desire to learn.

If you are a self-starter and motivated to deliver successful, long term business change supported by a driven and motivated team who share a common goal, this may be the position for you. The new post holder has the potential to make a real impact on our future technological landscape.